REQUIREMENTS FOR ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements for publication in the Official Journals can be filed either as hard copy or electronically. Our preference is that they be filed electronically, but please note that they can only be accepted if they are in PDF format or sent as Word documents. All advertisements, whether filed as hard copy or electronically, must be completed either within an A4 page with a 4 cm top and 2 cm side and bottom margin, or within half a page with 2 cm margins all round. If copy does not meet these size requirements and it is necessary to photo reduce it, the quality of the advertisement cannot be guaranteed. All copy must be received by 1pm EST on Wednesday one week prior to the date of publication. Electronic copy must be sent by e-mail to publications@ipaaustralia.gov.au The charge for a full page advertisement is $AU 100 and for a half page is $AU 50.

DECISIONS OF THE COMMISSIONER OF PATENTS AND REGISTRAR OF TRADE MARKS AND DESIGNS

- All decisions of the Commissioner and Registrars are available free of charge from AUSTLII's website www.austlii.edu.au

Copies of all written Patent and Design decisions are available (except if they would not be available under the provisions of the Freedom of Information legislation, e.g. if they would effectively disclose matter from documents that are not open to public inspection) on request for a cost of $AU 25. They are also available for inspection in indexed volume series, dating from 1 January 1987, in the Office library, Canberra.

Copies of Trade Mark decisions may be accessed via IP Australia's website www.ipaustralia.gov.au

- Copies of the taped record of Patent and Design hearings are available (with the same exception as above) on request.
- When a written decision is issued the fact of the decision plus a brief head note will be published in the Official Notices section of the next available Patents, Trade Marks or Designs Journal.

GUIDE TO THE USE OF THIS JOURNAL

The Australian Official Journal of Patents (AOJP) reports on all the major events and actions which take place during the life cycle of an Australian patent and provides certain details of these actions as they relate to the patent or patent application involved. This guide sets out to teach the reader how to use the journal to access this information.

While there are many possible actions in the life of a patent, the majority of actions reported relate to the following events, which are the main stages in the progression of a patent application to a sealed patent:

(i) FILING –

This is the act of making an application. When the application is first filed certain details are published.

(ii) OPEN-TO-PUBLIC-INSPECTION (OPI) –

Approximately 18 months after first filing of an Australian or a corresponding foreign application, certain application documents, including the complete specification, become available to the public (Open-to-Public-Inspection or "OPI"). Relevant application details are published. In addition, an Abstracts Supplement to the AOJP contains abstracts of the inventive content of the OPI applications.

(iii) ACCEPTANCE -

This is the Commissioner's acceptance of a patent application. Once the Commissioner has accepted a patent application, certain details of the application are published in the AOJP. In addition, an Abridgments Supplement contains an abridgment (usually the broadest accepted claim and relevant drawing where appropriate) for each accepted application. Notice of opposition may be filed within three months of advertisement of acceptance.

(iv) OPPOSITION –

If an opposition action is commenced against the grant of the patent, the six-figure acceptance number and the name of the opponent are published.

(v) SEALING –

Most accepted applications are not opposed. These proceed to sealing and become granted patents. Of the few that are opposed (less than 1%) most of these, after resolution of the opposition, proceed to sealing and become granted patents. Sealed patents are simply listed in order of their six-figure acceptance number.

In addition to the actions related to these stages, other actions reported include: assignments, lapsing or withdrawal of applications and ceasing or expiry of patents, voluntary amendments, extensions of time for certain actions and registration of licences.

How To Identify Information Using "INID" Numbers

Patents are published in many different languages. As a result, finding the information that you want (eg the filing date) on a patent document or in a journal can be quite difficult. There is an international system operating, however, which codifies this information in an unambiguous way, by assigning a specific number to each piece of information about the history of a patent. These numbers are called the international agreed Numbers for the identification of Data or INID numbers.

These numbers appear on all published patents and abstracts and are used throughout this journal to identify particular items of information. For example, the data on which a document is filed has the INID number (22), while the name of the applicant has the INID number (71). These numbers are always expressed in parentheses and always immediately precede the information to which they relate. For example:

(22) 12.10.91

means that the filing date of the document which contains this reference is 12 October 1991. Learning the INID numbers for the information you want will help you find it quickly and easily.

A complete list of the INID numbers and the items to which they relate is provided at the end of this Guide.

How Australia Patent Documents are Numbered

Patent applications in Australia are assigned numbers at various stages in their processing. Each Australian application which proceeds to acceptance will have at least two (and sometimes more) different numbers during its life. When searching for information and ordering documents it is vital that you understand the numbering systems.

1. Provisional Applications are given a number with two characters and four numbers

e.g. PM1234

A provisional application number is identified by the INID number (21).

2. Complete Applications are given a five-figure application number followed by the last two digits of the year of filing

e.g. 12345/93

There are prefixes applied to this number which indicate whether the application has been accepted:

A document corresponding to an unaccepted application has the prefix, AU-A; e.g. AU-A-12345/93.

A document corresponding to an accepted application carries the prefix AU-B; e.g. AU-B-12345/93.

Users need to be aware that an accepted document may differ from the corresponding unaccepted document. This is because amendment may occur between first publication (OPI) and second publication (acceptance).

A five-figure application number is identified by the INID numbers (11) or (21).

3. When a patent application is accepted it is given a six-figure document number in addition to the five-figure application number
e.g. 123456

This is the number you must use to keep track of the application in the AOJP from now on. It is identified by the INID number (10).

NOTE: When ordering any patent document from us, whether accepted or not, please quote the five-figure application number preceded by the appropriate prefix.

Arrangement of Information in the Journal

For each of the categories

- (i) Provisional Applications Filed,
- (ii) Complete Applications Filed
- (iii) Applications Open to Public Inspection, and
- (iv) Applications Accepted

The Journal lists the information published in that category in an alphabetical Name Index list based on the name of the applicant. These indices are useful if you wish to find information about applications made by a particular applicant.

In addition to the Name Index there is provided, for each of these categories, a Numerical Index. This index lists the applications either in order of their five-figure Application Numbers, in the case of complete applications filed and applications OPI, or in order of their six-figure Document Number in the case of accepted applications. It provides, for each number, the name of the applicant. These indices are useful if you wish to track the progress of a particular patent application.

There are also IPC indices provided for applications which are OPI and for applications which have been accepted. IPC stands for International Patent Classification. Each IPC "mark" is an alpha-numerical representation of a particular area of technology. These indices are in order of IPC mark, and within each mark provide either the five-figure application numbers of the applications which are now OPI or the six-figure numbers of the cases now accepted. These indices are useful if you wish to check on patent activity in a particular technology.

Using the Indices

1. To Find Patent Information If You Know the Name of the Applicant.

Use the Name Indices. They will give you the following information identified by their INID number:

ITEM	INID No.	ITEM	INID No.
A) Provisional applications filed – Name Index		B) Complete applications filed – Name Index
The name of the applicant	(71)	The name of the applicant	(71)

Priority document number(s)	(31)	The classification marks	(51)
Date of filing of priority document(s)	(32)	PCT publication number	(87)
Country in which priority document filed	(33)	Priority document number(s)	(31)

		Inventors names if known	(72)
		Patent Attorneys	(74)
		Related by addition	(61)
		Related by division	(62)

You will notice at each stage of following an application through that all applications are in alphabetical order of Applicant, not inventor.

2. To Find Information About a Patent Application If You Know Its Number.

Use the appropriate numerical index. This will give you the name of the applicant from the number. You will then need to use the appropriate Name Index as above to find out other information about the Patent Application you are interested in.

The following Numerical Indices are available:

- A) Provisional Applications filed.
- B) Complete Applications filed.
- C) Applications Open to Public Inspection.
- D) Applications Accepted (note that this uses six-figure document numbers rather than five-figure application numbers).

3. To Find Information About Patent Documents in the Area of Technology in which You are Interested if You Know the International Patent Classification Mark for that Area.

All patent applications are classified according to their subject matter using the International Patent Classification (IPC). Although the system is very detailed and covers all technologies, knowledge of the IPC marks of the technologies you are interested in will allow you to find patent documents in these technologies quite easily. To identify the IPC marks of technologies you are interested in, you can inspect relevant documentation in any of IP Australia's state offices.

The indices to use are

- A) Applications OPI – IPC Index
- B) Applications Accepted – IPC Index.

These indices give you the numbers of the applications which are either OPI or Accepted and are listed in order of their IPC marks.

Once you have the numbers of the documents that interest you, consult the relevant Number Index (see 2. above) to find the applicant's name, and then the Name Index (see 1. above) to find out the details of that application.

Official Notices

Free Trade Agreement between Australia and the United States of America

This notice is intended to provide customers with some background and explanation to the areas of the Australia/United States Free Trade Agreement (AUSFTA) which impact on the IP rights administered by IP Australia and to remind customers of the consequential legislative changes that have been made.

Background to the Agreement

The AUSFTA is a major bilateral trade agreement for Australia which was signed by Australia's Minister for Trade and the United States Trade Representative on 18 May 2004.

Legislation giving effect to the obligations under the Agreement (the US Free Trade Agreement Implementation Act 2004) was passed by the Australian Parliament on 13 August 2004 and received Royal Assent on 16 August 2004. On 17 November 2004, Australia and the US exchanged notes accepting each other's implementation processes. The Agreement came into force on 1 January 2005.

The US Free Trade Agreement Implementation Act 2004 has ten schedules, five of which relate to the changes required under the IP chapter (Chapter 17) of the Agreement. However, minimal changes were required to the legislation for which IP Australia is responsible as most of the AUSFTA provisions are accommodated within current practices or restate existing international obligations. Specific impact on each of the IP rights administered by IP Australia are summarised below.

Trade Marks

While no changes were required to the Trade Marks legislation to implement the AUSFTA, the Trade Marks Office will take on additional functions in relation to assisting the Australian Wine and Brandy Corporation (AWBC) determine geographical indications for wine. These changes are reflected in amendments to the Australian Wine and Brandy Corporation Act (AWBC Act) in Schedule 3: Australian Geographical Indications (GI's) for Wine of the implementing legislation.

The amendments to the AWBC Act:

- allow the owner of a trade mark to object to the determination of an Australian GI; and
- introduced procedures to allow for a GI to be cancelled.

As well, administrative guidelines have been prepared for registration and cancellation of GIs of foreign countries. These guidelines can be accessed at www.awbc.com.au.

Designs

No changes to the Designs legislation were required to implement the AUSFTA.

Patents

Under Article 17.9(5) of the FTA, the grounds on which a patent may be revoked are restricted to grounds on which the grant of the patent could have been refused. Schedule 8 of the US Free Trade Agreement Implementation Act 2004 included the following amendments to the Patents Act 1990:

- Section 59 was amended to introduce, as grounds of opposition, the grounds of lack of utility [s.18(1)(c)] and prior secret use [s.18(1)(d)]. This amendment aligned the grounds on which a patent could be opposed to those upon which it could be revoked.
- The grounds for revocation also included the ground that the patent owner has contravened a condition in the patent (s 138(3)(c) of the Act). This provision was deleted as (following from the 1989 repeal of extensions of term of patents for inadequate remuneration) patents are no longer existing or granted subject to conditions.
- Subsection 104(3) of the Patents Act, which allowed the Commissioner to allow amendments subject to conditions, was also deleted as the practical effect of this provision is fully encompassed by section 115.

These amendments came into effect on 16 August 2004 and apply to all patent applications that have not been granted at the date of commencement.

Paragraph 8(a) of Article 17.9 of the FTA requires that in the circumstances where there are systemic unreasonable Office delays in issuing patents, an extension of patent term is to be provided to compensate for such delays. The provision refers to two instances of unreasonable delay and the one that is most relevant to the Australian Patent legislative framework is where patents are issued more than “two years after a request for examination of the application has been made”. The provision allows for deductions from the total time taken (ie exam request to patent issue) for any delays attributable to the applicant or any opposing third party.

The Australian patent legislative framework differs significantly from that of the USA. For instance it operates on the basis of delayed examination providing applicants with significant flexibility in prosecution of their patent application. Consequently for standard patent applications there are a number of examination alternatives available to applicants (note that examination can be ‘full’ or modified examination in each case). An applicant may request:

- expedited examination
- examination -not directed
- examination -after direction, or
- deferred examination.

Applicants elect a particular processing path depending on a number of reasons including the progress of examination in other countries, the workload of their patent attorneys and/or for other commercial reasons. All options are available to applicants and in the case of expedited examination a first report will generally issue within two months of a request for examination.

Applicants in Australia also have considerable flexibility in responding to adverse examination reports. The prime requirement is for the patent application to be brought into order for acceptance within a period of 21 months from the date of first report (ie first Office action). There are no other limitations on the time taken to respond to an adverse report, the nature of the response or the total number of reports or responses permitted so that the time taken to acceptance and the overall timeframe is largely in the applicant's hands.

Accordingly, for the purposes of paragraph 8 (a) of Article 17.9 of the FTA the following will be considered delays attributable to the applicant and/or any opposing third party and to be excluded from the two year time period from request for examination to grant:

- Unless the applicant requests expedited examination, the time between the request and issuance of the first examination report less two months.
- Any time in excess of 2 months for responding to the first and second adverse reports and all the time taken by the Office or the applicant in preparing, issuing or responding to a third or subsequent adverse reports.
- Any period for which an extension of time is granted (other than under section 223(1)) (error or omission by the Office and/or its employees).
- Any time taken in processing amendments or re-examination post acceptance.
- Any period associated with patent opposition, disputes under section 32 (between applicants etc) or 36 (other applications by eligible persons), appeals or related proceedings.

On the basis of above criteria, IP Australia is currently not experiencing delays on a systemic basis in granting patents more than two years from request for examination and does not anticipate they will occur in the future. However, the governments of Australia and the USA, parties to the FTA, will monitor implementation of the agreement to ensure that all requirements continue to be met.

Plant Breeders Rights

No changes to the Plant Breeders Rights legislation were required to implement the AUSFTA.

Australia and the USA are both signatories to, and compliant with, the 1991 Act of the International Union for the Protection of New Plant Varieties (UPOV) Convention for the protection of new plant varieties. The 6-monthly UPOV Committee meetings provide an opportunity for Australia to raise PBR issues with the USA within the context of international harmonisation.
